Subject: NOAA Staff warning about contradicting the President

Dear Mr Jacobs,

Did you actually approve of or create a memo for your scientists and forecasters under your employ not to contradict the President of the United States? And thus allow him to continue to provide inaccurate vital information to the public? And do you think that is wise? Or that we are that ignorant to not have noticed?

If so, you should be shamed out of your job. I will just leave it at that. Resign if you had any involvement. That may be the right thing to do. But I don't suspect that you will do what is right.

The attempted intimidation of the NOAA field office, which did the right thing by telling the truth was out of line, and against everything our Nation used to stand for. If you did not approve that memo being reported in the Washington Post, then you must get to the bottom of it and fire the individual who was responsible, including yourself if appropriate.
