Thank you, Sir. Teachers gave us all our inspiration in pursuing science.
I appreciate your concern.

I am delighted to see there is someone at NOAA with the guts to stand up for what is right and rational. I wish you the best with your investigation into the Trump fiasco. Below is an email I sent a few days ago to Neil Jacobs at NOAA. No doubt you know him.

Former earth science teacher

Email to Mr. Jacobs:

This is directed to the person responsible for the dressing down of the Birmingham office of the NWS. I assume you know who that is.

Shame on you. Absolute shame. You have besmirched the reputation of NOAA by undermining the scientific integrity of NOAA. The toadyism manifested in your support for the erroneous statement of our mentally challenged president is worse than awful. When good people fall under the sway of tyrants, it is a sad day for all of us who depend on you to do the right thing.

You can do better.
