Mr. Leslie,

Does NOAA have no shame? What pressure was brought to bear by the White House that would make you disavow the statement from the NWS Birmingham AL office? You would through your personnel under the bus just because our Lyin' Commander in Chief won't back down from an imbecilic statement about Hurricane Dorian? Does this mean that you give up science completely?

Shame on your management. Publish an accurate statement. Dorian was never ever progged to hit Alabama. I know because I live in Florida and followed the storm from its very beginning. Stand up and be counted!
