Thanks!

So far, NCEI has received more than 250 tweets on our Climate Twitter account about the issue. We have hundreds more tweets to review and I'll provide final count later. We review each tweet/comment to ensure there is not a data request/legitimate question nor is there any (major) profanity nor misuse of the social media platform.

No media inquiries so far.

Thanks,
-Greg

Greg, John,

Just FYI nearing the end of the day. I believe my folks passed one person up the line to NOAA. By noon, we had 9 other phone contacts who mostly just called to vent or to rib us about this issue. They all identified themselves as private households, not media, so we just documented them in Salesforce and moved on. I do not have an email total but it appears to have slowed a bit this afternoon.

Hi John,

We are compiling the comments from our Climate Twitter account. I'll forward these to you. It's been comparatively quiet on our Climate Facebook account.

Thanks,

Hi Greg and thanks for getting this process started. If media inquiries come in about this issue, please have them send emails to both: Julie.Roberts@noaa.gov and Scott.Smullen@noaa.gov at NOAA HQ Communications.

Hi John and Scott,

Scott, thanks for bringing this to my attention. I spoke with John and he asks if you could send a brief email summarizing the nature/wording of calls and emails. He will present this to NESDIS management.

Also, John, if we get media inquiries, who do we forward them to?

Katy is in or en route to Boulder for meetings or I would have looped her in as well. I did send her a text.

Thanks to you both,
-Greg
