

Jane Will

From: Jane Will
Sent: Sunday, September 8, 2019 9:25 AM
To: dennis.feltgen@noaa.gov
Subject: Re: Backing up Trump's weird error

Are you serious? You JUST threw the Birmingham branch of the NWS under the bus. Any idiot (except Trump) can see that he made a minor mistake. Big deal. The huge deal is that he won't correct it and people, like you, who are supposed to provide us with scientific information are not only allowing it to happen, you are enabling him. You have also embarrassed and undermined your employees. The statement below that you sent out doesn't even come close. You owe them a sincere apology and a retraction of your misguided sucking up to President Trump. You are supposed to be a manager - manage!

“We want to assure you that we stand behind our entire workforce and the integrity of the forecast process, including the incredible scientific, technical and engineering skill you demonstrated for this event,” the NWS leadership wrote. “We saw first hand that our integrated forecast process works, and we continue to embrace and uphold the essential integrity of the entire forecast process as it was applied by ALL NWS offices to ensure public safety first and foremost.”

On Sat, Sep 7, 2019 at 10:06 AM Jane Will <(b)(6)> wrote:

Were you the one who authorized the NOAA statement suggesting that the President was correct when he stated on September 1st that Dorian could hit Alabama? Is that actually true? How can we trust the reporting now? It seems to now be Politics not Science.