I tend to agree. Obviously, it's too late for today, but we can't let perfect get in the way of great.

– need clear minds and that isn't the case right now.

Recommend we revisit first thing tomorrow to wrap-up with final to include that statement.

If you have a suggestion on how to accomplish that feel free to send the sentence in this email and we can add to the document. We are very close to a final version. Thank you to everyone for pulling it together.

Attached is the all hands with suggested edits from communications and a clean version. Let me know what you all think about the suggested edits. This is not going out tonight so we have some time in the morning to put the final touches on it and run the approvals.
