

Karen Morgan

From: Karen Morgan
Sent: Saturday, September 7, 2019 6:58 PM
To: neil.jacobs@noaa.gov
Subject: Great Sadness

Dear Mr Jacobs,

It was with great sadness that I read this morning of a spokesman for NOAA agreeing with the obvious misinformation that the POTUS is spewing about Hurricane Dorian and the threat to Alabama. I think of NOAA as a scientific weather forecaster that could be trusted in times of dangerous weather to give the best, most up to date scientific information. Now I feel I will have to look elsewhere to gain this valuable information as NOAA has obviously become a political hack for an administration that can not keep facts straight on a good day. For a science based organization, this obvious rewriting of the facts is the kiss of death. You should feel a deep sense of shame for allowing the good name of NOAA to be dragged through the mud to justify the ravings of a mad man. Shame on you.

Karen Morgan