To Acting NOAA administrator Neil Jacobs: your statement undercutting your own scientists was a craven act of cowardice. You are an embarrassment to scientists worldwide, and you should resign. Congratulations on setting science back 50 years. No one believes your idiotic coverup claiming that you "sent this guidance to field staff so they (and the entire agency) could maintain operational focus on Dorian and other severe weather hazards without distraction." You are a laughingstock. Put down the shovel and stop digging. Resign!!
