Subject: I have lost confidence in your agency

I am responding to the recent horrors where your staff were told to toe the party line regarding the alleged hurricane approach to Alabama:

NOAA was one of the sites I visited most frequently and I have had no reason to assume that the science is anything but the best. Sadly, that is no longer the case.

As a retired federal scientist, I can't imagine the toll that this has taken on your ethical scientific staff. But perhaps you consider them a liability or simply do not respect science.

My mother would have said "you should be ashamed of yourself"--and you should be ashamed. I am a taxpayer and your customer. I will be here long after the current administration is gone.
