Subject: NOAA Information Can No Longer Be Trusted

Hi NOAA,

I just wanted to let you know that, since you formally supported an outright lie about Hurricane Dorian's trajectory, and did not have the back of your Birmingham's National Weather Service people, I can no longer trust anything you release regarding the weather. I have to assume that you have turned over all scientific research and statements to the narcissistic racist in the White House.

You have put lots of people in danger, who will now willfully ignore the data you release to the public, as, like me, they will assume it to be pretty much lies.

Thanks for showing your true colors during a hurricane.
