

Robert S. Broadhead

From: Robert S. Broadhead
Sent: Tuesday, September 10, 2019 10:54 AM
To: neil.jacobs@noaa.gov; julie.roberts@noaa.gov
Subject: Your 15 Minutes of Fame

Neil and Julie (aka: NOAA's anonymous Spokeperson):

Congratulations. You're getting the spotlight you deserve: shame on you.

Having penned the NOAA anonymous announcement undermining the scientific integrity of NOAA's Birmingham scientists by stating that Alabama was threatened by Hurricane Dorian (a total lie and delusion...), you have publicly kissed Donald Trump asshole for us all to see, and you have joined the crowd of sycophants who will do anything to protect Trump's idiocy, incompetence and venality.

Your children and spouses must be proud of you!

And thank God for giving you the fortitude to kiss Trump's ass in order to save that precious job of yours!

However, since you are still in positions of authority (but hopefully not for long), please now publicly and heartily endorse the efforts of Drs. Louis Uccellini and Craig McLean for holding the line against Trump's mendacity and ego-mania. Those two fine people did their job as scientists by refusing to cave-in to the corrupt threats from Trump and his grotesque munchkin, Wilbur Ross: lie and undermine NOAA or be fired.

What inspirations you two are for the rest of us....

Sincerely,

Robert S. Broadhead
Salt Lake City