Subject: Sorry to be MIA

Scott,

Sending you a quick email to say sorry I have been completely MIA in my communications with you. Just a heads up that I have been teleworking a lot, and working weekends (and holiday) and 12 to 16 hour days this week. I'll definitely max out my credit hours. I think I am still supposed to report actual hours, and will get a note saying I'm maxed out and not eligible for comp. So that's my plan! I of course should have asked long ago for blanket approval to work more than 9 hour days. So, my work life is very stressful and I could de-brief more if time. I (like my staff) am having to cancel vacation plans (a planned week long camping trip when school gets out). Totally burn out and de-motivating. But suffice to say I am so grateful for the CCVO team, Howard, Cathy, Garwin are the fab three, and Barry and Rosalie. Superstars all around. A deputy note of encouragement and recognition might be nice at some point, but not critical right now.
