Me too! Just finished up the calculations for the "heat map" for Steelhead survival / km for the four years of the steelhead studies. Numbers seem reasonable. Now have to put them in tables like the CAMT SSSt report for Maria's briefing. I will also include a "tagger survival comparison" for years 2012-2014 that also displays the cumulative survival from release to Chipps - it gives a good graphical representation of where mortalities occur along the routes.

Our target was to have materials to me by noon, so I could repackage and send out mid-afternoon. I'm running behind, so not sure I'll be able to repackage before COB.

Please DO send me what you have sometime today, and I'll get the draft briefing doc out Monday morning for review by 3pm (so we can get the final into her meeting folder before COB in case she takes it home to look over in the evening/morning).
