Ok, thanks. Let me know when it's on the server. I'll take a quick look and, depending on what's there try to put together some straightforward directions for making/updating figures.

We got a CD with the American River temperature data that you had requested. I'll try to put it on the server. I guess it is large. I'm not sure either of you has time to do anything with it, but if you want someone else to look at it to make some figures, let me know and we can maybe try to get someone on it.
